RYAH Medtech partners with SOS Cannabis to provide free legal representation to Canadian patients seeking reimbursement of medical costs

RYAH Medtech Inc is making it easier for Canadian patients to purchase its dose-measuring dry herb vaporizer by partnering up with SOS Cannabis.

The partnership will provide patients with the opportunity for free legal representation from the team at SOS when seeking reimbursement from government agencies for the costs of purchasing the RYAH vaporizer.

The vaporizer lets patients precisely measure the dose and temperature of their vaporizing sessions and uses HIPAA-compliant medical data to analyze what works for them. RYAH Medtech is a privately-held company based in New York.

"As we enter the plant-based medicinal market in Canada with our Health Canada Class I licensed dry-herb cartridges and our dry-herb vaporizer, we will be providing consumers with a complete solution for dose-control, heating, consumption and feedback," RYAH CEO Greg Wagner said.

"The SOS Cannabis partnership takes our solution further by providing patients with the ability to seek reimbursement on RYAH products from governmental agencies, at no additional costs."

SOS Cannabis is a law firm based in Quebec that helps clients seek proactive and retroactive reimbursement for claims made to governmental organizations.
