Balmoral Resources just scratching the surface at Martiniere

Balmoral Resources Limited (TSE:BAR) owns a suite of properties on the Abitibi gold belt, which, as Darin Wagner, president and chief executive officer, explains, has a long history of high grades.

"That's exactly what we're seeing," Wagner told Proactive after the company unveiled the latest grades from drill holes at the evocatively named Bug South. In total there are now three established near-surface gold deposits on Balmoral's wider Martiniere property, within a relatively tight area. That gives the company a lot of options within a relatively tight area, Wagner said, "and we've only just scratched the surface", he added.
