

MID SESSION MARKET WRAP

09:16 26 Jun 2014

Footsie becalmed as banks and builders battle it out

The UK's leading shares are trading water, with the Footsie little changed despite a couple of banks letting the side down.

Down more than 5%, Barclays is the FTSE 100's biggest loser on Thursday, leaving the benchmark index unchanged at 6,733.

Investors are reacting to the news that the New York Attorney General has filed a lawsuit against Barclays in relation to the bank's 'dark pools' anonymous trading facilities, which allegedly give high-frequency trading clients an unfair advantage.

Barclay's routed transactions through its own 'dark pool' trading venue rather than stock exchanges and didn't protect the interests of those clients from 'high speed' predatory traders, alleged New York Attorney General Eric Schneiderman.

Another bank out of favour with investors is Standard Chartered (LON:STAN), down 4%, after a profit warning.

Profits will be down 20% for the first half, the bank warned.

It blamed a tougher regulatory environment and a drop off of activity in its trading businesses, due to lower market volatility.

At the other end of the scale, the London Stock Exchange Group (LON:LSE) is the toast of the City after it confirmed a deal to buy the Frank Russell Company.

The LSE describes the US$2.7bn deal as a rare opportunity, putting together the Russell and FTSE indexing units, as well as adding an investment management services business with US$256bn of assets under management.

House builders are back on buyers' shopping lists after Bank of England governor Mark Carney proposed putting a cap on the size of mortgage loans in relation to the borrower's or borrowers' income(s).

The move to prevent a housing boom could have been more severe, and housing stocks such as Persimmon (LON:PSN) and Barratt Developments (LON:BDEV) racked up gains of more than 5%. Building materials group Travis Perkins (LON:TPK) and equipment hire firm Ashtead (LON:AHT) also piled on the pennies.

Among the tiddlers, radio frequency technology group LightwaveRF (LON:LWRF) shoots up 60% after it was accepted by consumer electronics giant Apple as a developer.

Shares in Hurricane Energy (LON:HUR) storm ahead 28%, to 38p thanks to a well testing result that promises to transform the company, and perhaps part of the North Sea.

At over 200mln barrels Hurricane's Lancaster discovery is about 10 times the size of the average North Sea oil find, and, being a fractured basement play, it is the first of its kind in British waters.

Kenmare Resources (LON:KMR) is up 25% at 14.875p after its management rebuffed a bid approach from Aussie firm Iluka. Based on the latest share price of Lukoil on the Australian stock exchange, the proposed terms value Kenmare

Share Information

MarketTopic Synopsis:

The Mid Session Wrap is a report on the biggest movers in the market and macroeconomic news that affects movements in share prices. The report also previews macroeconomic data that is due to be released over the course of the session.

action@proactiveinvestors.com

shares at 16.8p.

Shares in Tangiers Petroleum (ASX:TPT; LON:TPET) are up 11% after it said drilling has begun on the Galp Energia-operated TAO-1 exploration well offshore Morocco.

The Ralph Coffman jack-up rig will test up to three stacked targets: Assaka in the Upper Jurassic; the main target Trident in the Middle Jurassic and will move on to TMA if the well is deemed a success.

Proactive Investors facilitate the largest global investor network across 4 continents in 4 languages. With a team of analysts, journalists & professional investors Proactive produce independent coverage on 1000's of companies across every sector for private investors, private client brokers, fund managers and international investor communities.

Contact us +44 (0)207 989 0813 action@proactiveinvestors.com

No investment advice

Proactive Investors is a publisher and is not registered with or authorised by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA). You understand and agree that no content published constitutes a recommendation that any particular security, portfolio of securities, transaction, or investment strategy is suitable or advisable for any specific person. You further understand that none of the information providers or their affiliates will advise you personally concerning the nature, potential, advisability, value or suitability of any particular security, portfolio of securities, transaction, investment strategy, or other matter.

You understand that the Site may contain opinions from time to time with regard to securities mentioned in other products, including company related products, and that those opinions may be different from those obtained by using another product related to the Company. You understand and agree that contributors may write about securities in which they or their firms have a position, and that they may trade such securities for their own account. In cases where the position is held at the time of publication and such position is known to the Company, appropriate disclosure is made. However, you understand and agree that at the time of any transaction that you make, one or more contributors may have a position in the securities written about. You understand that price and other data is supplied by sources believed to be reliable, that the calculations herein are made using such data, and that neither such data nor such calculations are guaranteed by these sources, the Company, the information providers or any other person or entity, and may not be complete or accurate.

From time to time, reference may be made in our marketing materials to prior articles and opinions we have published. These references may be selective, may reference only a portion of an article or recommendation, and are likely not to be current. As markets change continuously, previously published information and data may not be current and should not be relied upon.