Gordons Dam is north of Yandal shareholder Northern Star Resources Ltd's (ASX:NST) (FRA:NS7) (OTCMKTS:NESRF) 12 million ounce-plus Kanowna Belle deposit.

Investor Northern Star is active in the region and hopes to snap up another junior company in the region, Echo Resources Limited (ASX:EAR) (FRA:E1L), which has plans to reopen an Eastern Goldfields mill nearby.

Besides Gordons, Yandal's attention is focused on three other priority projects.

The project and Gordons contain multiple prospects along the Yandal greenstone belt, home to a number of Tier 1 gold deposits.

Yandal is funded to undertake exploration activities at all four of its priority projects.

The company is actively drilling two other projects, the Ironstone Well and Barwidgee gold projects.

It expects first assay results from the Ironstone Well and Barwidgee project drilling in the December quarter.

Yandal is also expecting assay results from Gordons project in the December 2019 quarter.

The company also has the Mt McClure project in its portfolio and hopes to progress a mining lease application for the project this quarter along with a lease application for Gordons Dam.

What are Yandal Resources' next steps?

Portfolio project holder Yandal plans to complete up to 20,000 metres of drilling at the Ironstone Well and Barwidgee gold projects in the December 2019 quarter.

The company also hopes to complete an initial pit optimisation study to assess the potential for an open pit mine development.

Some technical activities associated with mining Flushing Meadows deposit will also start this quarter.
